Queensbridge Schools' Pop-up Market

Held in October the pop-up market in the Village Square was a resounding success. All Year 9 pupils had a turn at manning their stall and at drumming up support for Birmingham Children's Hospital, a cause very close to the hearts of all pupils in this year group. Business was brisk from the start and passers by were soon feeding back to QB staff on the Square how impressed they were with the pupils they encountered and with the quality of the products on sale.

However, no-one could have predicted the result, and there was celebration all round at the end of this brilliant week, when the grand total of just over £1000 was announced! Congratulations to everyone involved, from our dedicated staff who worked so incredibly hard all week, to our wonderful pupils and to everyone who came along and supported the event.

Lost Voices in Malta

This is an exhibition of photographs by Linda Winstanley and runs from December 29th - January 26th 2014

Seventeen miles long and nine miles wide, Malta is situated in the middle of the Mediterranean sea, south of Sicily and north of Tunisia. These twelve photographs are an attempt to capture some of my vision of Malta.

December 8.00am and 10.00am

My father, one of seven children, was born in Malta. As a youngster, I neither knew my father nor Malta. When I did get to know my father he spoke of Malta and it seemed like a distant land. It intrigued me. My father's family spoke of Malta with great fondness. My uncle loved Malta and my aunt couldn't believe that her parents removed her from such a sunny climate where she picked fruit from the trees on the way to school, to the grey and cold country of England.

Visiting Malta as an adult I immediately felt at home on my first and subsequent visits. I felt both a connection to the country and an odd sense of closeness to my father's family, especially to my grand mother. The ease, the warmth, the smell, the humourare all part of my vision of Malta.

Outlook Update

Outlook has now been going 6 years - we originally wanted to let the people of Kings Heath know what was going on with the redevelopment of the All Saints campus and development of the Village Square. We have a band of volunteers who distribute the 1500 copies each month and it is always available at the Farmers Market and from All Saints Church. As from the February edition we will no longer be delivering it. It is time to say thank you to our volunteer deliverers and "stand them down" thanking them for their hard work.

The Outlook will continue to be produced but will be available from a number of Outlets - the Church, All Saints Centre, Johnstan's Butchers, Kings Heath Community Centre, Kings Heath library and more to be announced. A Big Thank You to all who have helped for the last six years.
