New Youth Centre

These pictures show young people from All Saints Youth Project constructing internal walling in the new youth centre which is taking shape at the rear of All Saints Centre. The building shell was constructed with a grant from Birmingham City Council and the internal fitting-out and finishing is being undertaken by young people, staff and volunteers from All Saints supported by staff and students from South and City College Birmingham.

The project is also getting a helping hand from Wickes, who are providing some of the materials and arranging local trade mentors, and Volunteer It Yourself, a London Youth initiative supported by the Big Lottery. Mary Miles, Chair of All Saints Youth Management Committee says "It is very exciting for the Youth Project at last to have the opportunity for space dedicated to work with young people which has long been our aim. We are especially pleased that young people are undertaking the finishing of the inside of the building and the ownership that this brings" more pictures inside
