Christmas Lights Switch On

The Kings Heath Christmas Lights for 2011 were switched on by Joanne Malin, well-known radio presenter from BBC WM 95.6 FM. Santa Claus (Rev. Peter Spencer) came to join in with the festivities and invited the children to sit with him on his sleigh to have their photographs taken.

Afterwards, many of the adults and children attended a Christmas Carol Service where the music was provided by the Central England Concert Band. At the end of the service Joanne was presented with a bouquet and a painting as a thank you from KHBA. This service has been popular locally for many years now and the church was completely full.

A list of Christmas services can be found inside Outlook

Parks For Play

Over a hundred local children came to the new King's Health village square on Saturday 29th so that pyramids of pumpkins could take on new features, endless supplies of black balloons could emerge as bats and huge cobwebs could be on hand for giant spiders. The autumn play festival was run by Parks for Play, a South Birmingham charity which delivers a range of inclusive community play services for children in parks and schools. Parks for Play is working on a project Olympic Wild Welcome to create an inclusive community space in Kings Heath park for the 2012 Olympics. Photo by Alex Morey

Local Schools Plant Spring Bulbs

Continuing the programme of Community Planting, over 40 pupils from Colmore Juniors, Woodthorpe J&I and Dame Ellen Pinsent schools helped to plant over 1000 bulbs into the turf of the Village Square on Thursday 24th November. The children worked hard and enjoyed planting varieties of crocus bulbs which will add to the other thousands of bulbs being planted which will provide a beautiful colourful display next spring. Thanks to the teachers and helpers who brought the children on a cold but bright winters day.

Women's Liberation Playgroup Reunion

November 5th saw the reunion of a number of women their partners, grandparents and some of the children who had been part of the Womens Liberation/Movement Playgroup which had run for over four decades, 1970 - 2006. The Playgroup began its life in the 1970's meeting in the playcentre based in Calthorpe Park. The group was a great success, it grew and therefore needed larger premises and began to meet in All Saints church hall, where they met for over 30 years. The reunion saw women from all four decades meeting up and sharing memories. To commemorate the history of The Women's Liberation/Movement Playgroups involvement with All Saints we were able to subscribe to the engraved pavers appeal and after the cutting of our celebratory cake we walked to the village square to admire our part in the history of All Saints. Sandra Fortnum, Jane Woddiss, Helen Lloyd & Maureen Pitt.
