NEW ARTWORK IN KINGS HEATH VILLAGE SQUARE

Come and see the new Interpretation Panel which was installed in the Village Square in February. The beautiful colourful design was created by local illustrator Jess Mikhail. The panel depicts a panoramic view of the square and its environs and offers short explanations about the main features. ASCA (All Saints Community Arts) Chair, Vivien Thickett, comments "Our policy is to use local artists wherever possible for any commissions for the campus. This was a very challenging project and we approached a number of local artists before settling on Jess's ideas and style for the panel. It is a lovely addition to our Award-winning Square and we hope visitors find it attractive and interesting". Continued

New Art Work continued from front page

Jess is a freelance children's book illustrator who has had 2 new publications out this year. "I was delighted to have been selected for this commission", says Jess. "This was a new and exciting challenge because I wanted the artwork to appeal to everyone. I have used lots of colour because I hoped to create a sense of happiness and I wanted to make visitors to the square feel warmly welcome, part of their community and to understand the purpose of Kings Heath Square. If you look closely, you can spot me walking my dog.!"

Look out for further artwork installations and community arts events in the coming months, which will be advertised in Outlook.
